Our Ethos/ Vision

At Bushbury Hill Primary School, we are committed to giving all of our children every opportunity to achieve. Our vision is for every child, regardless of learning difficulty, disability, disadvantage or special educational needs, to be inspired through a creative curriculum, so that they become confident and caring individuals, who work hard and become lifelong learners, so they aspire to be, the best they can be, in everything they do.

Our School Motto is:
“To Be the Best That We Can Be”

This policy, together with our SEN Information report, will explain how we will do this; by ensuring that the necessary provision is made for every pupil. The achievement, attitude and well-being of every child matters and inclusion is the responsibility of everyone within our school. Every teacher is a teacher of every pupil, including those with special educational needs and disabilities. Bushbury Hill Primary School is passionate about inclusive education for all and welcomes the unique contribution which every individual can make to our school community.

Definition of SEN and Disability (SEND)

At our school we use the definition for SEND to mean ‘Special Educational Needs and Disabilities’ from the SEND Code of Practice (2014). This states:

SEN: A child or young person has special educational needs if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her. A learning difficulty or disability is a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age. ‘Special educational provision’ means educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made generally for others of the same age in a mainstream setting in England.

Disability: Many children and young people who have SEN may have a disability under the Equality Act 2010 – that is ‘...a physical or mental impairment which has a long-term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.’

The Code of Practice (2014), states that all children and young people are entitled to an education that enables them to make progress so that they:

- Achieve their best
- Become confident individuals living fulfilling lives, and
- Make a successful transition into adulthood, whether into employment, further or higher education or training.

Bushbury Hill Primary School believes that all children with a Special Educational Need must have their needs recognised and assessed, with appropriate and timely intervention put in place. We strive to deliver appropriate curriculum to:

- provide suitable learning challenges
- meet the pupils diverse learning needs
- remove the barriers to assessment and learning

The Code of Practice (2014) provides an overview of the range of needs, which is divided into 4 broad areas. These areas are:

- Communication and Interaction
- Cognition and Learning
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health Difficulties
- Sensory and or Physical Needs.

Objectives

- To ensure a clear process for identifying, assessing, planning, providing and regularly reviewing for SEND pupils with the pupils and their parents/carers at the centre.
- To develop effective whole school provision management of support for pupils with special educational needs and disabilities.
- To deliver training and support for all staff working with pupils with SEND in order to develop our practice within the guidance set out in the Code of Practice, June 2014.
- Ensure that all students with SEN are offered full access to a broad, balanced and appropriate mainstream curriculum that sets high expectations for every student whatever their prior attainment.
- Take the views, wishes and feelings of the young person into account, and involve them as fully as possible in decision making about their own education.
- Work in partnership with parents to enable them to make an active, empowered and informed contribution to their son/daughter's education.

Implementation of the policy:

The overall aim of this policy is to improve the outcomes for every child with SEN in all the areas outlined in the Special Educational Needs Code of Practice. This will be achieved by these (specific) outcomes:

- Making SEN provision an integral part of each School Improvement Plan.

A Graduated Approach to SEN Support

The identification of SEN is embedded in the whole school process of monitoring the progress and development of all pupils. A process of on-going teacher assessments and termly pupil progress meetings with the leadership team identifies those pupils making less than expected progress given their age and individual circumstances. We recognise the benefits of early identification and making effective provision in improving the long-term outcomes for children with SEN.

The school's first response is high quality targeted teaching by the class teacher. Where progress continues to be less than expected, the class teacher will provide interventions for support and discuss their concerns with the SENCO. At this stage, they will be placed on the provision map as an underachiever or having a short term need, depending on the individual's circumstances. In deciding whether to make special educational provision, the teacher and SENCO will consider all of the information gathered from within the school about the pupil's progress, alongside the views of parents/carers and pupil. Particular care is taken when identifying and assessing SEN for children whose first language is not English. Where pupils have higher levels of need, and with parental permission, the school may seek advice from external agencies. These agencies include:

- Educational Psychology Service (EPS)
- Early Years Special Educational Needs team (EYSEN)
- Specialist Teacher Support Services
- Speech and Language Therapy Service
- Outreach Teams
- Occupational Therapy
- Educational Welfare Team
- Children's Services
- School Nurse/health visitors team
- Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS)

This begins a cycle of assess, plan, do, review with the child/young person at the centre of the process. This is managed in a whole school provision map of interventions, which is intended to be a working document. This is regularly updated as more is understood about the child's SEN, including their response to interventions. Where a child and family would benefit from co-ordinated support from more than one agency an Early Help Assessment via Eclipse, may be used to identify help required and to prevent needs escalating.

Identification of Needs

Bushbury Hill believe in interventions for all groups of learners; pupils with SEN, underachievers, pupils with a short term need and most able pupils. These learners' needs are then categorised into the four broad areas of need, according to the Code of Practice. For some learners this may mean multiple areas of need as it is important to identify the full range of needs, not simply the primary need of an individual pupil. In practice, individual children or young people often have needs that cut across all these areas and their needs may change over time.

The Code of Practice refers to four broad areas of need:

Communication and Interaction - Children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) have difficulty in communicating with others. This may be because they have difficulty saying what they want to, understanding what is being said to them or they do not understand or use social rules of communication. The profile for every child with SLCN is different and their needs may change over time. They may have difficulty with one, some or all of the different aspects of speech, language or social communication at different times of their lives. For example, children with Autistic Spectrum Disorders (ASD), including Asperger syndrome, are likely to have particular difficulties with social interaction. They may also experience difficulties with language, communication and imagination, which can impact on how they relate to others.

Cognition and Learning refers to children with learning difficulties. These children are identified making less than expected progress given their age and individual circumstances. This can be characterised by progress which, despite relevant interventions:

- is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress
- fails to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers
- widens the attainment gap

Learning difficulties covers a wide range of needs from moderate learning difficulties (MLD) to children with profound and multiple learning difficulties (PMLD). Specific learning difficulties (SpLD), affect one or more specific aspects of learning. This encompasses a range of conditions such as dyslexia, dyscalculia and dyspraxia.

Social, Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) - children may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated, as well displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour. These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression, self-harming, eating disorders or physical symptoms that are medically unexplained. Other children may have disorders such as attention deficit disorder (ADD), attention deficit hyperactive disorder (ADHD) or attachment disorder. In managing pupils' mental health and behaviour difficulties in school, Bushbury Hill has clear processes to support children and young people, including how they will manage the effect of any disruptive behaviour so it does not adversely affect other pupils.

Sensory and/or Physical Needs - some children require special educational provision because they have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities generally provided. Many children with vision impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI) or a multi-sensory impairment (MSI) will require specialist support and /or equipment to access their learning. Some children and young people with a physical disability (PD) require additional ongoing support and / or equipment to access all the opportunities available to their peers.

Where a pupil is identified as having SEN, Bushbury Hill will take action to remove barriers to learning and put effective special educational provision in place. This SEN support takes the form of a four-part cycle through which earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised with a growing understanding of the pupil's needs and of what supports the pupil in making good progress and securing good outcomes. This is known as the graduated approach. It draws on more detailed approaches, more frequent review and more specialist expertise in successive cycles in order to match interventions to the SEN of children and young people.

Assess

Bushbury Hill has a very proactive approach to assessing Special Educational Needs and wider issues relating to Mental Health difficulties and behavioural, social and emotional disorders. We will ensure that we regularly assess all pupils' needs so that each child's progress and development is carefully tracked compared to their peers and national expectations. We will listen to the views and experience of parents/carers and the pupil. In some cases, we will draw on assessments and guidance from other education professionals e.g. Educational Psychologists (EP) and from Health and Social services. We use a referral system whereby staff can highlight concerns.

Plan

Where SEN Support is required, the teacher overseen by the SENCO, will add this to the provision mapping for their year group. Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the pupils in their class, including where pupils access support from teaching assistants or specialist staff. The teachers ensure the provision is in place on the provision map. This outlines the adjustments, interventions and support which will be put in place for the pupil as well as the expected impact on progress and outcomes, including a timescale of sessions, which is reviewed at the end of each term. Targets for the pupil will be shared with her/him using child friendly language and with parents/carers.

Do

The class teacher is responsible for working with the pupil on a daily basis. She/he will also liaise closely with staff responsible for the intervention and ensure the intervention is taking place, record the progress of the intervention and monitor the impact that this is having. The SENCO will provide support, guidance and advice for the teacher.

Review

The provision mapping, including the impact of the support and interventions, will be reviewed each term by the teacher, who has overall responsibility for the pupil. The teacher and (where different) the adult leading the intervention, will celebrate successes with the pupil, discuss progress and next steps. The SENCO, phase leaders and senior leadership team will analyse progress and consider next steps. This forms part of the leadership monitoring cycle and is reported on at termly meetings to inform the school improvement plan for the next term. Parent/carers are given the opportunity at least 3 times a year to review the progress and the impact of interventions at parents' evenings and includes the opportunity to meet directly with the SENCO. Together, this will inform the planning of next steps for a further period or where successful the removal of the pupil from SEN Support.

Criteria for removing pupils from the SEN Register

When a child has made sufficient and sustained progress towards achieving their personal targets and it is felt that they are able to maintain this with quality first teaching, they may be removed from the SEN register. The school will continue to monitor pupils recently removed from the register to ensure good progress is maintained and this may include provision made for 'underachiever' or 'short term needs' learner interventions where necessary.

Requesting an Educational, Health and Care (EHC) needs assessment

A small number of pupils, whose needs are complex and long term, may require a greater level of support than that provided at SEN Support from the school's own resources. For these pupils a request will be made to the local authority to conduct an assessment of education, health and care needs. This may result in an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) being provided. This brings together the child's health and social care needs as well as their special educational needs. The EHCP replaces what were formerly called 'Statements of Special Educational Needs'. As a parent you have the right to request an Education Health Care Needs Assessment. If you would like to request an Education Health Care Needs Assessment, please contact the SENCO to discuss this further.

Reviewing Education Health Care Plans

In addition to the SEN support meetings and SEN reviews at parents' evenings offered to pupils on SEN support, we also ensure the EHCP is used to actively monitor children and young people's progress towards their outcomes and longer-term aspirations. EHCPs are reviewed by the local authority as a minimum every 12 months. Pupils will send an invitation to their parents to attend their annual review and will attend part of the meeting to share their achievements for the year and aspirations for the future. Reviews focus on the child or young person's progress towards achieving the outcomes specified in the EHC plan. The review decides whether these outcomes and supporting targets remain appropriate.

Additional support for parents

In addition to the support provided by school, Wolverhampton Information, Advice and Support Service offer impartial information, advice and support on matters relating to a child or young person's special educational needs or disability from birth to 25 years. They can be contacted via their website: www.wolvesiass.org. Furthermore; Voice4Parents is Wolverhampton's parent/carer forum. They are a group of parents whose children have a range of additional needs. They work closely with the Information, Advice and Support Service to gather the views of parents and carers to try and improve services in Wolverhampton.

Monitoring and evaluation of SEN

The SENCO, head teacher and the SLT regularly monitor and evaluate the quality of provision for all pupils. The school aims to use interventions in school that have proven outcomes and are evidence based. The impact of SEN provision on the progress and outcomes for children on the SEN register is measured through:

- Analysis of pupil tracking data and test results at pupil progress meetings
- Progress against national data and based on their age and starting points.
- Interventions baseline and exit data
- Progress against individual targets
- Pupils' work and interviews

Training and development

Training needs are identified in response to the needs of pupils currently on the SEN register. School staff have specific training and expertise. The SENCO attends network meetings to share good practice with colleagues and keep up to date with SEND developments.

Supporting pupils at school with medical conditions

The school recognises that pupils with medical conditions should be properly supported so that they have full access to education, including school trips and physical education. Where it is the case that a medical condition meets the criteria of disability the school will comply with its duties under the Equality Act 2010. Reasonable adjustments will always be made to promote access to all areas of the school curriculum for pupils with a disability, e.g. an extra adult to accompany a child on a school trips/residentials. For further information, please see our medical needs policy.

Admission arrangements

Pupils with SEN are admitted within the normal admissions procedure of the school. Parents and pupils are invited to view the school on a private inspection through appointment. The Equality act 2010 ensures that disabled children and young people are welcomed in respect of admissions related to their disability.

Transition arrangements

Support for students with Special Educational Needs includes the planning and preparation at key transitional phases of education. For pupils arriving at Bushbury Hill Primary School, a bespoke comprehensive package of transitional support can be put into place, to meet the needs of the child. This can take the form of a photo booklet of key people and places, transition days and establishing wishes and feelings with the pupil. Transitions to their next step in education are planned carefully in relation to the pupils' needs and again, a tailor-made package is planned and arranged with the next provider, which together with the pupil and parents, we feel will best suit the needs of the individual.

Complaints

We ask that parents/carers with any concerns regarding the SEND policy or the provision made for their child at Bushbury to speak to us as soon as possible. In the first instance, please speak to the class teacher or the SENCO. If parents/carers have not had their concern resolved, they should then make an appointment to see the head teacher and follow the school complaints procedures.
